

You seems to have Moderate Aptitude

The term Moderate is used if your scores are not clearly high or low. If you score moderate, we believe that you should seek a foundation of specialized knowledge to base your career.

Mechanical Aptitude

MapMyCareer test scores indicate that you are moderate in mechanical reasoning and comprehension. This means:

- You can understand mechanical and physical principles with effort
- You can understand mechanical operating systems and functions with effort
- You can learn and operate machines of all kind with effort
- You can use mechanical principles to solve a problem
- You can choose and work efficiently using different tools

Having Moderate "Mechanical Aptitude" indicates that if you choose a career where this aptitude is used optimally you need to be more focused and motivated. This aptitude is extremely important for particular industries such as production and manufacturing. There are more and more fields that are using mechanical reasoning. Some of the most common types of careers are: Engineering, manufacturing, production jobs, dentistry etc.

Spatial Aptitude

MapMyCareer test scores indicate that you have moderate structural visualization.

This means that:

- You can think in three dimensions
- You can make details of designs or structures with some effort
- You can prepare a sketch of three-dimensional objects or make a blue print of a complex building with effort
- You can quite easily imagine and unfold objects as seen from various angles if you practice
- You can describe your thoughts in the form of diagrams/pictures to others

This aptitude is very useful in many careers- Architecture, engineering, industrial design, software engineering, sculpting, sciences, medicine, physical therapy, surveying, carpentry, metallurgy, computer programming, actuarial science, mathematical research, statistics, and econometrics etc. You will be more comfortable working in non-spatial fields. If you still have a passion for these careers, you can choose the specialized field where 3-D is used less. For example, medicine or therapy may be a good choice.

Logical and Analytical Reasoning

MapMyCareer test scores indicate that you have moderate capacity to interpret things objectively and predict solution using general intelligence and logic. And to be able to analyze assumptions behind an argument/statement. This means that:

- You need to be more focused while organizing information, activities, or steps in a process
- While arranging a step-by-step approach to implement a solution, review and recheck

Finding the best fit for your personal profile is what will be most likely to lead to career and life satisfaction. You need to focus on other aptitude patterns and choose.

Innate inclination towards Numbers

You seem to have moderate numerical aptitude which shows that mathematics, or possibly that portion specific to application of mathematics, is not a motivational factor for you. You need to be more focused to:

- Analyze and/or interpret numerical information carefully
- Solve arithmetic with accuracy
- Remember complicated series of number
- Solve detailed and complex calculations

Your numerical aptitudes may not be the focus of your career. All business careers have a numerical component, even if interpersonal relationships are the predominant focus, as in a sales or managerial position or as a Financial advisor, entrepreneur/businessman etc. Teaching math or finance, navigating a ship, seeing a project through a fashion house etc. will generate numbers that must be calculated or interpreted. Take an example of a pilot, which involves memorizing multiple numbers — for air speed, atmospheric pressure, altitude, and many others. If you are choosing any of these careers you need to be focused and careful in your work to achieve success. Careers in accounting and banking would be more appropriate for you.

Attention to Detail

MapMyCareer test scores indicate that you have moderate ability to scan data quickly and put things systematically with speed. You may not be very interested in voluminous paper work or tasks involving arranging or processing large amounts of data. This means, you need be focused while:

- You are doing systematic tasks, no matter how small
- Dealing with large amount of numeric data with speed and accuracy
- Understanding procedures or processes to accomplish a task
- In managing repetitive paper work

The applications of this aptitude are innumerable. The worlds of finance and business offer multitudinous opportunities (specifically in trading). Insurance, banking, investment banking and accounting, office management etc are some of the careers one can do well in with this aptitude. In your case if you choose any of these careers you need to enhance self-motivation and be prepared for putting more effort and time to learn your work.

Language Aptitude

MapMyCareer test scores indicate that you have moderate ability to cope with ambiguity in language. You may not be self-motivated and may need to put some effort to learn other languages. We can explain further as:

- You can learn new and different languages with effort
- You must learn skills to read quickly, write accurately, listen carefully and express yourself
- Learn grammatical rules and carefully use it while speaking and writing
- Put effort to acquire new concepts and in retaining information

This aptitude is used maximally in teaching and training. It brings easy success to professionals like translators, linguists, executives, actors, theater artists, lawyers, copywriters etc. You can choose an alternative career where this aptitude is not a main focus.

Verbal Aptitude

MapMyCareer test scores indicate that you have moderate ability to become a flexible communicator with precise articulation of ideas. This can be further explained as:

- You need to pay attention to absorb information in the world around you
- You may take some time to interact with others
- You need to be focused while listening and communicating
- You need extra focus while taking longer training

This aptitude is used in the careers like law, journalism, media, counseling, Public Relations, and other managerial positions. To be successful in these careers you may need to develop pertinent skills.

Auditory Aptitude

MapMyCareer test scores indicate that you have an moderate ability to think rhythmically. This means that:

- You have good sense of rhythm
- You have an ability to remember sequences of tones
- Have precise awareness of pitch
- You may also have ability to learn and remember rhythms or beats quickly
- You have great listening skills which help to develop deeper understanding

Experts will tell you that you have an "Auditory aptitude," which might lead to strong interest in music. If music is a true passion for you, perhaps you may select excellent training to pursue it further.

Memory for Design

MapMyCareer test scores indicate that you have moderate ability to absorb and reproduce diagrams. This means that:

- You can understand styles and trends in visual fields with effort
- You can reproduce designs from memory on paper with effort
- You can retain/remember designs

This aptitude will help you to explore your interests in creative fields. Even if you don't think of yourself as being artistically talented, learning to work with line and form, perhaps in studying textiles, doing page layout for publications or web design, being a fashion buyer, or becoming a print or map collector could allow you to express this aptitude. If you choose one of these options you need to be more focused while learning.

Visual Aptitude

MapMyCareer test has figured out that you have moderate general artistic ability. This means that you need to be more careful while:

- Giving artistic judgment
- Learning artistic skill

This aptitude comes in use in a majority of artistic professions. For example, all fine artists (different types of painters, sculptors, etc.) and commercial artists (graphic designers, CAD designers, architects etc.) use this aptitude. You need to choose careers where you get time and flexibility to learn these skills.

You seem to have Moderate Personality

The "personality" is the typical pattern of how one thinks, feels, and behaves and which makes a person unique. When we say that someone has a "good personality" we mean that they are likeable, interesting and pleasant to be with. Having a good personality is vital - probably even more so than good looks. In fact, approximately 85 percent of our success and happiness is a result of how well we interact with others. Ultimately, it is the personality that determines whether people are attracted to you or not.

While we can only extend our aptitude to a certain extent by adding skills, we have the ability to improve the personality as much as we want. We can develop or integrate any trait we think fitting and agreeable. Since you scored moderate, if you try, you can develop certain traits to enhance your personality.

Diligent

MapMyCareer test scores have shown that you are probably a perfectionist and alert with an ability to handle monotonous work, but not consistently so. To explain further we can say:

- You review (recheck) the work you do to reach perfection
- You are quite aware of what is happening around you
- You take less time to respond, as you are very attentive whatever you do
- You are very sincere in your work and finishing tasks even if it is repetitive and boring
- Your work is generally found to have less mistakes

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

Leader

MapMyCareer has identified that your natural personality traits make you achievement orientated, adventurous, inquisitive, persuasive and practical, but not consistently so. To explain further we can say:

- You generally do not give it up till you reach your goal
- You can convince others quickly
- You try and try till others agree with your point of view
- You do not mind taking risks to achieve more or to become successful
- You remain curious to know more and do not mind asking questions or seeking answers
- You are quite practical in your approach

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

Administrator

MapMyCareer has found that you probably have honesty and integrity, confidence, assertiveness, independence and practicality as your natural strengths, but not consistently so. Experts say:

- You appreciate honesty and can remain truthful in difficult situations
- You show confidence whatever you do
- You are eager to participate in different activities and many times are the first one to show interest in doing new things
- You like to be on your own and do things with your own efforts
- You are quite practical in your approach
- you can adapt to contemporary thinking easily

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

CREATIVE

MapMyCareer test scores have identified that creativity naturally reflects in you with little effort, but not consistently so. This means:

- You are likely to be very imaginative and independent
- You can generate newer solutions with less effort as compared to others
- You generally put forth unpopular or unusual ideas
- Many times others probably experience you as clever and resourceful
- You do not get satisfaction easily and keep on trying new things or new ideas
- You prefer opportunities where rapid flow of ideas is integral to your work

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

ARTISTIC

MapMyCareer test scores show that you can probably demonstrate artistic judgment, artistic preference, or simply a different style, but not consistently so. This means:

- You can express more as compared to others about what you think art should look like
- You can give your strong opinion, or show flexibility, or state desire against popular ideas
- You can easily find out which is better as per as style or artistic work is concern.
- If you try you can make a drab work to look beautiful.
- You can quickly give artistic meaning in even routine everyday objects.

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

INNOVATOR

MapMyCareer test scores show that you probably prefer to be an innovator. Your natural behaviors are: being creative, artistic, and inquisitive, but not consistently so. We can further explain:

- You are imaginative and can generate alternative ideas quickly and easily
- You can solve complex problems with minimal effort using new solutions or steps or processes
- You can convert boring routine work to more interesting activities
- You can judge artistic work efficiently
- You generally ask questions to yourself or others till you reach the answer
- You have a natural inclination for artistic pursuit

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

STOIC

MapMyCareer test scores show that you probably prefer to be a Strong Minded, Emotionally Stable and Relaxed person, but not consistently so. This means:

- You can be strong in difficult situations and give sound advice
- You can stick to your opinion even if others oppose it
- You can control your emotions easily
- You remain cool both in difficult or excited circumstances
- You can cope with stress and remain relaxed most of the time

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

ANALYTICAL

MapMyCareer test scores show that you are probably a logical person, but may not show analytical trait consistently. This means:

- You prefer to take action after reflecting on the pros and cons of all the available options
- You generally get deeper into things, and consider aspects that are generally overlooked by others
- You look at all aspects, all the angles and draw your own calculated conclusion
- You approach an issue in a step-wise manner and getting logical conclusions is a natural phenomena for you
- You can analyze the situation or problem at hand, usually much better than others

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

OUTGOING

MapMyCareer test has found out that you can probably be cooperative, confident, assertive, communicative and an extrovert, but not consistently so. This means:

- You can work in a group easily
- You are more effective when you work with others
- People say that you are confident whatever you do
- You prefer to take up work of your own rather than waiting for others to suggest your name
- You can easily talk or explain things to new people or in a new situation
- You prefer to talk/explain logically so that, people understand easily without much confusion
- You can be highly visible and show decision-making authority over other people

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

ENTREPRENEUR

MapMyCareer test has found out that you are probably stable, decisive, cooperative, persuasive and have good achievement orientation, but not consistently so. This means:

- You can control your emotions in difficult situations
- You appreciate logical decisions and remain consistent about your decisions
- You enjoy working in a team and can help the team to achieve common goals
- People can agree to your point of view easily
- If you set goals, you would strive to achieve them

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

ACHIEVERS

MapMyCareer test has found out that you can probably have strong persuasive, adventurous, independent, confident and creative traits, but not consistently so. This means:

- You can convince others easily
- Willingly take risks to get things done
- Show confidence whatever you do
- Look for alternative solutions to resolve issues or complex problems

To reach perfection in all the above behaviors, work on the personality trait suggested in the personality improvement section.

GO-GETTER

MapMyCareer test has found out that you can probably have strong achievement orientation, adventurousness, judgment, decisiveness and tolerance, but not consistently so. All these traits reflect naturally in a person who is a go-getter. This means:

- Always display patience and stability in complicated situations or while resolving complex issues
- When you set a goal, you strive to achieve it
- Take calculated risks to get to try new ideas
- Show sound judgment in difficult situations or while resolving conflict
- Others look up at you as a decision maker